DEMOCRATS GET READY

For supervisors—W. H. McClellan, Lester Petrie, M. C. Pacheco, Sam Hardesty, John Markham, J. Machal-nal.

For sheriff—W. P. Jarrett.
For deputy sheriff—Chas. H. Rose.
For treasurer—Charles J. McCarthy.

For county attorney—J. Lightfoot.
There were no suggestions for the positions of clerk and auditor made at the caucus yesterday, and it is possible that no candidates will be named to oppose the incumbents.
When the ticket as presented was read, there was a howl of indignation from the members of the anti-Jarrett faction, who claimed that they had been given no representation. Their protests had no effect, the leaders of the opposition maintaining that they were in power and had the votes, and that the slate as suggested would be put through at the convention tomorrow unless the framers saw fit to make some changes before the voting begins.

James McNamara, the dynamiter serving a life sentence at San Quentin, has undergone an operation for appendicitis. He was recently released from solitary confinement given because of insubordination.

POLITICAL NEWS AND NOTES

Falling to receive what they considered was a fair and impartial treatment at the hands of the last Republican county convention, where several candidates for legislative and municipal tickets were thrown down hard and fast, the "soreheads," or rather those who were not nominated, are now seriously thinking of running independently.

Incidentally, the Honolulu branch of the International Longshoremen's Association, a strong hui, with a membership of 1400, according to one of its leaders, has picked out Joel C. Cohen, as their man to represent their interests in the Senate.

"S. A. Kaleipou is a good man, said one of the pool leaders this morning, but unfortunately for him he could not do anything in the Senate, when the rest of the members are opposed to him.

"We will support Cohen for Senator," said George Kane, president of the Longshoremen's Association. "We believe that Cohen is independent enough to oppose any and all bills that may be introduced in the Senate, which will be detrimental to the interests of the people.

RUSH TO GET OFF TICKET

terse and expressive sentiments on the subject of the "busy-bodies" who are behind the ticket.

W. A. Bowen, mentioned as a candidate for supervisor on the "Citizens' Ticket," said this morning that he knows nothing whatever of the "Committee of Fifty" and had never been consulted as to his own candidacy.

"My son, W. Spencer Bowen, drew my attention to the announcement in yesterday's paper," he said. "Now, if Spencer was meant, which might be the case, as he was a candidate at the Republican convention, the initials should have been 'W. S.' and he should have been consulted. Personally, I could not accept a permanent office of the sort, as I am planning to leave the Territory next February for a rather extended stay."

Ed Towse, mentioned for the House of Representatives, declined to say anything about the matter when approached this morning by a representative of the Star-Bulletin. Towse smiled and handed out a card on which was printed the following:

"Politically I am dumb, but not deaf. How's business? Ed. Towse."
"Are you or are you not a candidate and do you know anything of this citizen's ticket?" he was asked.
"Nothing to say on politics," responded Mr. Towse.

From another source came the information that Towse has said to a personal friend that he will not run on the citizens' ticket and has no intention now of being a candidate for the House.

Sol. Mahelona, the Fifth district politician, given as the citizens' ticket candidate for deputy sheriff, said this morning that he has not been approached by any representative of the "Committee of Fifty."

"I know nothing about it,—nothing

"And for that purpose, we will try to elect him as a Senator in November."

Captain Robert W. Parker, candidate for the shrievalty, was in consultation this morning with the leaders of the anti-Jarrett forces. It was then that he was assured of the support of the anti-Jarretts for the office of Sheriff.

"We are willing to support Captain Parker for Sheriff," said G. K. Keawehaku, politician, Hawaiian interpreter, and self-styled political astronomer of the Democratic party.

Keawehaku, the only live-wire Hawaiian interpreter in the Democratic party, said this morning that the party could not get along without his assistance.

"How can these haole candidates get the support of the Hawaiian electorate when they have not any able Hawaiian interpreter to help them during the campaign?" asked he this morning.

"We are ready to support Captain Parker, and, with the strength we have in hand at the present time, we believe that Jarrett will be beaten in November."

at all," said Mahelona, "and I'm not going to run."

Daniel Logan, spoken of for supervisor, declared today that he has not been approached by any member of the "committee" and that he will not run. "I took the pledge in the convention and I'm out of it now," he said. "I heard from some individual sources that there was to be an independent ticket, but personally I know nothing of any committee or any concerted movement."

Charles Hustace, Jr., independent candidate for mayor, is quoted as saying that he considers the proposed Citizens' party a piece of foolishness and that nothing will induce him to consider any nomination it might offer. "I am out for the mayoralty and for nothing else," he declared.

David Kalanikaiani said this morning: "I know nothing whatever about the ticket, so called Citizens'. No one has approached me on the subject and the use of my name was without authority. I am running on the Republican ticket."

"The placing of my name on the so-called Citizens' ticket is an outrage," said Colonel C. W. Ziegler this morning. "I am a party man first, last and all the time, and it would be ridiculous for me to turn around and oppose a ticket I helped nominate."

"I am satisfied with the decision of the convention," said A. D. Castro, and have no intention of running on any so-called Citizens' ticket. The use of my name was without my knowledge or consent."

"I am a regular party man," said G. F. Affonso, "and the use of my name was entirely unauthorized. I should not consider running on such a ticket at this time."

"The use of my name was entirely unauthorized," said E. I. Spalding. I am not a candidate for any office. The first I knew of the affair was when I saw my name in the so-called Citizens' ticket."

A. Fernandez joined in the general voice of denial. "The use of my name in such a connection is a joke," he said. "I never heard of the ticket until someone told me my name was in the paper yesterday."

Bruce Cartwright Jr., named for treasurer, has been out of town for weeks, according to his father, and expects to be away two weeks more, so, naturally, it is pointed out, he does not know anything about the ticket either.

John C. Lane—I do not know anything about the Citizens' committee. My name was used on their ticket without my consent, and against my will. I am too much of a Republican to run on that ticket.

W. T. Rawlins—The so-called Citizens' committee used my name for county attorney without consulting me. I would like to know who are responsible for this ticket.

W. C. Achi—Somebody wanted me to run independently for the Senate, but as I was not nominated in that county convention, I will not agree to run for at least two years.

F. K. Archer—How my name was mixed up in the Citizens' committee ticket is a mystery to me. I was surprised to see in the newspaper that I was out for a political position. I want to state clearly that I am not running for any office this year.

W. Spencer Bowen, who is probably meant instead of his father, W. A. Bowen, on the "citizens ticket," as a candidate for supervisor, is another who was not consulted in the matter. "Nobody said anything to me about it," said Mr. Bowen when questioned this morning. Mr. Bowen is a free agent, as, not having been nominated at the convention, he did not take the pledge.

"I am not a candidate for any office," said Jim Quinn, "and I never authorized the use of my name on the alleged citizens' ticket. I am satisfied with what the convention did and I am through with running for office for some time to come."

Lorrin Andrews, leader of the Kuli forces in the convention, when asked if a quite common surmise that he was the author of the independent ticket was correct, replied:

"I never heard of anything of the kind until I read it in the paper."

"Since my defeat in the county convention for supervisor, I will now run on the Progressive ticket for the same office. I think I have a very good chance to beat the other candidates for supervisor on the Republican ticket."

Wm. Ahia, once supervisor, and who was turned down by the last county convention, this morning announced his candidacy for the supervisory honor. He said that the work of the last convention was "too rough" and he could not tolerate such a proposition as to drown his ambition for the supervisory honor.

'DOUGHBOYS' WIN FROM CAVALRY PLAYERS

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, H. T., Sept. 23.—The Cavalry went down to defeat Sunday afternoon, and the speedy foot soldiers of Colonel McGunagle did the trick, 7 to 5. Betting favored the mounted branch of the service, and it looked from the press box during the practice and opening session that Lieutenant Groninger and his well-trained outfit were about due for the pennant. But the uncertainty of baseball upsets all prophecy, and it is this very feature that empties our shops and offices on busy days and helps men like Dreyfus and John T. Brush to pay salaries and dividends. The spirit of this game at Schofield was intense in its earnestness, and the calm assurance "Nothin' to it," from Cavalry and Infantry rooters on either side of the field, promised well for support of the moral type, and as the game progressed this one thing was a feature of the contest. Kidd and Edwards were in the points for the doughboys, and the Cavalry chose Suddarth to pitch to Steinhauer. The First introduced a new outfielder named Cross, and though he denied any genealogy with the famous Monty Cross of the Athletics, still he has the instincts of the old-time Mackman. Hamilton substituted for Ferris at second, and with these innovations the game was on.

Umpires Unsteady.
The game was a loosely-played affair from the start to the stretch, but this was due in a measure to the poor umpiring of Guyon and his fellow indicator, Cerellus. In the third inning Guyon tied things up beautifully by allowing Edwards' tally to count. Edwards was on third after stealing two bases, and Bladen was at bat. "Red" had three balls and two strikes, with two men gone, and Edwards at a signal from the bench started for home, while Suddarth was purposely winding up to catch Bill at the rubber. The umpires ordered Bladen to first on the fourth ball, but the foxy Russian stood perfectly still, thus preventing Steinhauer from putting the ball on the fleet Edwards. Guyon ignored the infringement and the catcher tallied. The play was completed as planned and the result desired was obtained; but so palpable was the interference of Bladen that some Japanese women sitting near the sidelines protested the umpire's decision, and that, in the language of Theocritus, is going some. Again, in the fourth inning Suddarth passed Byrne and Steinhauer allowed the fourth ball to get away from him. Byrne scooted to third while "Germany" was fielding the sphere, and Cerellus allowed the extra bases, all rules to the contrary notwithstanding. The ball was not in play until returned to the pitcher, but Cerellus reasoned differently and his judgment was sustained. These sort of decisions indicate a lack of technical knowledge, and while the Cavalry seemed to take the thing good-naturedly and quietly acknowledged the authority of the umpires, still, those two mistakes helped a heap in the Infantry run-getting and practically decided the contest.

Classy Sticking.
The hitting of May for the Cavalry and Cross for the doughboys was the feature. May got to Kidd for three hits, while Cross got a single and a double off Suddarth. Lieutenant Hanson in center for the Fifth brought the crowd to its feet in the sixth inning by a spectacular catch. This officer looks like Josh DeVoe of the New York Giants in action, and while not a big leaguer, the lieutenant is a natural ball-player, take it from me, Horatio.

Eliminating the work of the umpires and that one play of Cross in center field, when he had a chance to make an easy double, the game was well played and full of interest. But it seems to the writer that some training should be given to the umpires, if baseball is to carry its usual interest at Schofield.

Ahia, who believes he has a large following, especially among the workmen, was busy this morning shaking hands with the passers-by on the streets. For about fifteen minutes he stationed himself outside the First National Bank and quietly told the pedestrians that he was out for the position of supervisor.

Ahia is a member of the Kamehameha Alumni Association, and it is believed that he will receive the unanimous support of the Kamehamehas.

"Yes," said Supervisor Eben P. Low, "I saw my name on the independent ticket, but that is all I know about it. I am not running for anything. I don't propose to be steam-rollered again. Once is enough."

"So far as Sam Parker's chance of beating Joe Fern for the mayoralty are concerned, Colonel Knox has just as good a show of being governor of Hawaii. That is what I judge by the feeling on the waterfront, where there is a big lot of votes.

MIKE PATON SAYS FIGHTER WAS FOULED

The Democrats were just defeated in Maine by the combined Taftites and Progressives, who are now making plans to annihilate one another. Democratic Maine will now have a Republican governor and legislature.

The last wife of "Ferdie" Earle, the original "soul-mate" man is reported to have left him, but "Ferdie" says that she just couldn't love him so. A bandit held up an Oregon stage in approved old time style and relieved the stage and passengers of all money and valuables, then got safely away.

Charles C. Boucher, a New York journalist, and recently a Paris correspondent of American papers, committed suicide in London after a prolonged debauch.

Representative Henry George is suffering from breakdown in his home in Washington.

A large hand-embroidered American silk flag, the gift of the Danish-Americans, was presented to King Christian of Denmark.

Safe crackers made a big haul in Eureka, Cal., robbing several safes and getting away without leaving a clue.

Robert R. Church, a negro millionaire, recently died in Memphis. He was sold as a slave just before the war.

The sporting world is still humming with excitement over the fight Friday night last, when Referee Mike Paton called a foul on Eddie Madison in the second round, and declared Trooper Bauersock the winner.

Many fans disputed the blow, and the sporting fraternity immediately divided against itself, some claiming that Madison was robbed, and some that Bauersock had every right to the fight, and that Paton acted exactly as he should have done.

There have been bitter words on both sides, and the referee has come in for a lot of criticism. Paton has forwarded a statement to this paper, giving his side of the story, together with a physician's certificate stating that Bauersock was treated for an injury that might have been caused by a blow struck below the belt.

"I will never referee another fight," said Paton this morning. "I did the best I could, and I never felt so badly in my life as when I stopped that fight. But I had to do it, because I saw the foul blow struck. This talk that Bauersock and I are friendly is not so. In fact, we are just the reverse, having had some differences of opinion before."

The certificate, which is signed "R. W. Benz, M. D., assistant to Dr.

Cooper," is as follows:
"To Whom It May Concern:
"I hereby certify that our record shows that Mr. C. Bauersock was treated by Dr. C. B. Cooper for injury * * * received last evening."

The injury described is to a portion of the groin which would probably be struck were a blow delivered below the belt.

Following is Mike Paton's statement:

Editor Star-Bulletin,
Sir:—For the benefit of the doubting audience, who were not in a position to see the foul struck Bauersock, I am handing Mr. Bauersock's certificate, verifying Mr. Bauersock's condition, to the public who are interested in clean sport (and not the betting end of the ring). I think this is due. I have never catered to soreheads in my life, only to clean sport, and as for the accusation of my starting to count Bauersock out, that is not so. I put my hand on Bauersock's head the moment he fell to the floor. I regret that Bauersock's back was turned to two-thirds of the audience when the foul was struck, and this two-thirds were not in a position to see the blow when the foul was struck. I wish also to state that in the preliminary of the Smith-Kemp fight, George Ingle started to count and then awarded the fight to Kupa, who was on the floor at that time. That is where the idea of my starting to count Bauersock out originated with the soreheads. Thanking you for the space, MIKE PATON.

The Siege Of Petersburg

In 2 Reels

A realistic reproduction of one of the most important dramatic incidents of the Civil War. Absolute fidelity as to scene, equipment and characterization, it makes you realize the intense, gripping, heart-stirring and inspiring events that occurred during that terrible conflict. You see the collapse of the burning bridge, crowded with fighting soldiers; the explosion of the giant mine, "The Crater," beneath the Confederate batteries; the fighting against heavy odds—all the dash and panoply of war splendidly portrayed.

We extend a cordial invitation to every member of the local G. A. R. to attend this Theater, as a guest of the management, on any one of the four nights the picture is shown. Come and re-live the famous siege of more than fifty years ago. Your lapel insignia will be your recognition ticket.
